Dear Mr. Dillon,

I have just returned from a trip that included Jonesboro and Dallas. [illegible] personal source I do not feel at liberty to disclose, I obtained the enclosures, a Dallas police "General Offense Report" and a retyped copy of what appears to be the part of a UPI story the jump of which was not included.

Were it not for this UPI story, I'd be inclined to discount the police report as a hoax, prepared by someone with access to Dallas police forms. However, I was able to do some checking, not inside the police, where I have no sources, but with the Dallas Sheriff's Department. All the legible numbers are legitimate. They accurately reflect the dispositions the police would have made.

I spoke to your Dallas bureau. They say that for the years 1963, the more probable, or 1967, which is possible, their records are stored in boxes in the basement of their building. They suggested that you would be able to ascertain whether or not there was such a story and provide the missing end. I would like to know.

What I enclose, the return of which I'd appreciate, is a xerox of a xerox of a carbon of unknown generation. It was sent, anonymously, by one signing himself a former Dallas policeman. I also enclose a retyped copy of the typed material.

Among the things that inspire doubt are the use of the name "Rubenstein" for Ruby, something he never did, and the names of policemen involved in the accumulation story. With all the cops in Dallas, this seems to stretch it a bit.

What do you do to lend credibility to your story, or what is responsible for that.

Oswald was said to have used the alias Hidell(?). He did live at Neely's [illegible], under Mr. Bledsoe. But he also left it entirely after this date, without ending up in N.O. or not be any gain in advance. The address given for Rubenstein is that of Mrs. "Julia". When Mrs. Bledsoe testified before the Warren Commission, she was not asked about any such relationship, nor did she volunteer it.

Thanks for anything you may be able to do to help.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
